A Tombstone and A Dash

In 2003 my wife died unexpectedly at age 51. We buried her body in a local cemetery and placed a tombstone on her grave. Do you notice anything unusual about the tombstone?

I sure do every time I visit her grave site. On the right-hand side is her name, date of birth, and the date of her death. It's the left-hand side that always hits home with me. It lists my name, date of birth, followed by a dash.

Someday my side of the tombstone will be engraved with the date of my death. The chances of it happening are about 100%. The real question is, "What will I do with my dash?"

Someday, you also will day. The chances of it happening are about 100%. What will you do with your dash? Designed to Serve® exists to help you answer that question. What will you do with the time that's left? How can you make your life count for Christ before you go home to him forever?
